Sustainability.

Environmental Commitment

We are committed to leveraging our strengths, talents, resources and technologies to service our communities and our customers. We are able to draw on our experience to refine the way we produce and deliver printed materials, from innovative recycling programs to our enterprise-wide Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) certification, to ground breaking corporate partnerships that complement our sustainability initiatives. We are partnering with American Forests to plant trees and help in the reforestation of the world we live in and each of our facilities utilizes FSC paper to support a more sustainable forestry industry. In addition to FSC certification GCX recycled over 53,000 tons of paper in one year. That equates to saving 902,000 trees. GCX also recycles more than 700 tons of aluminum per year. Our national footprint allows us to print close to delivery points so that we save fuel and that means less emissions. The inks we use are soy and vegetable based rather than petroleum and our facilities are outfitted with energy efficient lighting.

Being good stewards of our environment is something we all share. At GCX we believe good for the environment means good business and savings passed on to you.
